Year 1913

(As researched by Jack Burgess)

4th January 1913

Extract from The Fife News: Lecture – “An interesting lecture was given in the Drill Hall by Colonel Harry Walker, Dundee. His subject, “Rocky Scrambles in Skye and Norway”, was beautifully illustrated by lime-light views. On the call of Mr James Donaldson, who presided, the audience showed their appreciation of the lecture by according Colonel Walker a very hearty vote of thanks.”

Extract from The Fife News: Seasonable Generosity – “Following her usual custom, Lady Ninian Crichton-Stuart distributed to poor people in Falkland, Newton and Freuchie, parcels containing articles of clothing, blankets, and tea etc. The distribution was made by Mrs Stuart, the district nurse, who, by her knowledge of the people, was well able to judge of the individual wants of the various recipients.”

Extract from The Fife News: New Year – “1913 was ushered in very quietly. A watchnight service was held in the Parish Church on Tuesday night from 11.15pm until the New Year was entered and an appropriate address was delivered by the Rev. J.K. Russell, B.D. The public works have been shut down during the whole week and most of the shops were closed on Wednesday and Thursday.”

Extract from The Fife News: Song Lecture – “On Friday, 27th inst., a very enjoyable lecture was given by Miss Yule, of Edinburgh, on Burns’ songs, and during the course of the lecture, selections from the bard’s works were sung by a party of young ladies who accompanied Miss Yule. On the call of Mr James Jackson, who presided, a very hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Miss Yule and party for the very enjoyable entertainment.”

Extract from The Fife News: Presentation – “On the occasion of Mr Lawrence Reid’s retiral from the office of Inspector of Poor and Registrar, which he has held for 26 years, the members of the Town and Parish Councils, and a few others thought it to be a fitting time to recognise his long connection with the work of the parish in a tangible form, and on the evening of Friday last, a meeting of the subscribers to the testimonial was held in The Bruce Arms Hotel, when Mr J.L. Lumsden, Chairman of the Parish Council, presented Mr Reid with a purse of sovereigns and a silver salver, the latter bearing a suitable inscription. Mr Reid, in his reply, thanked them for their kind token of appreciation.”

Extract from The Fife News: Christmas Treat to School Children – “On Thursday evening last week, the children attending the Public School were entertained by Lord and Lady Ninian Crichton-Stuart. The gathering took place in the Drill Hall, which was packed by about 220 eager and happy children. This event, now an annual one, is looked forward to by the children with great expectancy, because not only are the “creature comforts” in the shape of tea and cakes provided, but there is the attraction of a Christmas tree laden with a gift for each child. Tea having been heartily partaken of, the Chairman of the School Board, Mr J.L. Lumsden, in a few well-chosen words, expressed on behalf of the children, their thanks to Lord and Lady Ninian Crichton-Stuart for their generosity in year after year providing this splendid treat for the children. Lady Ninian Crichton-Stuart then proceeded to dismantle the tree, which was now ablaze with lights to the great delight of the children, and handed to each child the toy or other useful article assigned by the teachers. A short programme of music was performed by the children, the action songs of those in the infant department causing much amusement. Mr John Duncan, M.A., the headmaster, and his assistants, are to be heartily congratulated on the appearance of the children.”

18th January 1913

Extract from The Fife News: B.O.A.F.G. – *“The annual general meeting of the “Lomond Oak” Lodge was held on Wednesday evening, when the Secretary submitted a very satisfactory report, which showed a large increase both in funds and membership. Office-bearers for the ensuing year were appointed as follows: - W.M., Bro. George S. Hardie; D.M., Bro. P. Robertson; P.M., Bro. James Oswald; S.W., Bro. J. Skinner; J.W., Bro. D. Lawrie; I.G., Bro. Extract from The Fife News: Missionary Lecture – “On Wednesday evening of last week in the U.F. Church, the Rev. J.H. Morrison delivered an interesting lecture on a tour round the Mission fields of the United Free Church in India. The lecture was beautifully illustrated by limelight views.”

Extract from The Fife News: Popular Lecture – “The last of the course of popular lectures was given in the Drill Hall on Friday evening, when Mr J.C. Adam, Portobello, read an account of the experiences of “a bird hunter at large”. The lime-light views thrown on the screen numbered about 150, and illustrated different sections of bird life in a very interesting and instructive manner. On the call of Dr Jack who presided, Mr Adam was cordially thanked for his lecture.”

Extract from The Fife News: Literary Society – “The meeting of the Society held on Monday evening took the form of a debate – “City Life v Country Life”. Miss Falconer and Mr W.D. Robertson advocated the advantages of the former, while Miss Cochrane and Mr D.A. Richardson set forth the delights of the latter to an appreciative audience. An interesting discussion followed, and on a vote being taken, country life had the majority of supporters.”

8th March 1913

Extract from The Fife News: Y.M.C.A. – “At the morning meeting on Sunday last, the Rev. J.H. Morrison delivered an address on “The Kingdom of God”. There was a good attendance.”

Extract from The Fife News: Literary Society – “On Monday evening, Dr Jack read an excellent paper on Shylock, the famous Jew of the “Merchant of Venice”, the Rev. J.H. Morrison following as critic. The subject was treated in a very interesting and instructive manner, and a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to both speakers on the call of Mr Donaldson, the Chairman.”

Extract from The Falkland News: Dance – “The annual assembly in connection with “Lomond Oak” Lodge B.O.A.F.G. was held in the Drill Hall on Friday evening, when there were 40 couples present. Dancing to music supplied by Berry’s Band was engaged in until the small hours of the morning. Songs were sung by members of the company at intervals and a very pleasant time was spent. Messrs G. Fernie and G. Collier acted as M.C.’s.”

Extract from The Falkland News: Livingstone Centenary – “A special joint service in commemoration of the birth of David Livingstone, Africa’s great missionary explorer, was held in the Parish Church on Sunday evening. The Rev. J.K. Russell gave a sketch of Livingstone’s life and his work in the “Dark Continent”, and the Rev. J.H. Morrison followed with an account of the pathetic death scene and the results which have manifested themselves as a consequence of Livingstone’s labours.”

Extract from The Falkland News: Soiree – “The annual social meeting of the United Free Church congregation took place on Thursday evening last week in the church, the Rev. J.H. Morrison, presiding. Tea was served at 7.30pm, and thereafter the programme was proceeded with. The speakers were the Rev. S. Crabb, Cupar, D.W. Greenfield, Edenshead, and J.K. Russell, Falkland. Solos were sung by Miss Horne, Falkland; Miss Forsyth, Freuchie, and Messrs R. Morgan and J. Blyth, Freuchie. Anthems, Quartet tee etc., were rendered by the choir and the juvenile choir. In spite of the inclemency of the weather, a very enjoyable evening was spent. The usual votes of thanks proposed by the Chairman were heartily responded to.”

Extract from The Falkland News: A Serious Offence – “At Cupar Sheriff Court on Monday before Sheriff Armour-Hannay, Peter Spittal (44), general dealer, Mill Tail, Falkland, pleaded guilty to an offence against a girl of fifteen years of age. The complaint was brought under the Criminal Law Amendment Act. Mr A.E. Grosset, solicitor, Cupar, on behalf of the accused, said the latter's story was that the girl, although of tender years, made overtures to him. Of course, that was no excuse for the offence. Accused had been in business in the neighbourhood for the past twenty years, selling butter, eggs, and groceries from a cart, and he had always borne a good character. Mr Grosset read a large number of letters from residents in Freuchie, Markinch, and other places in which Spittal was given a good character. One said the accused led "an honest Christian life." The Sheriff, in passing sentence, said that no doubt accused had a more or less unblemished record, but it was not only he who had to be considered, but his victim. His Lordship could pay no attention whatever to the suggestion that the girl made overtures to accused. Pursuer would go to prison for twelve months, with hard labour."

29th March 1913

Extract from The Fife News: Lord Ninian Crichton-Stuart M.P. – "Lord Ninian Crichton-Stuart, M.P., was at House of Falkland from Thursday to Saturday last week, and returned to London on Saturday night. His Lordship is in excellent health."

Extract from The Fife News: Hope Trust Lectures – "Mr J. Lumsden and Mr Alex. Reid, under the auspices of the Hope Trust, delivered lectures in the Drill Hall on Friday evening. The subject at the meeting for adults was "Undoing the Reformation". Both lectures were beautifully illustrated by lime-light views."

Extract from The Fife News: Social and Dance – "The first session of the Parish Church Bible class under the Rev. J.K. Russell, B.D., was brought to a close on Sunday, and on Thursday last week, the members met in a social capacity in the Drill Hall. After partaking of an excellent tea, purveyed by Mr William Mason, dancing was engaged in for an hour or two, and a very enjoyable evening was spent."

5th April 1913

Extract from The Fife News: Subscription Dance – "A subscription dance was held in the Drill Hall, Falkland, on Friday night, and being somewhat of a novelty for the district, it excited considerable interest locally. The hall was prettily decorated for the occasion, and a goodly company assembled, largely recruited from neighbouring villages. Dancing began at 9.00pm, and a selection of the latest music was admirably rendered by Mr McPherson, Dundee. The catering was in the capable hands of Mr Mason, Bruce Arms, Falkland, while the duties of M.C.'s were efficiently discharged by Messrs G.B. Morgan and Alex. Bonthron. Dancing was carried on with great spirit until 3.00am when a pleasant evening came to a close, and wishes were generally expressed that the function would become an annual one. The company comprised the following: - Mrs Livingstone, Lomondvale, black satin, with tunic of net, jet embroidered; Mrs Donaldson, Bank House, cream satin; Mrs Jack, Canonbury, gray satin charmeuse; Mrs Jackson, Meadowfield, pale blue taffetas with sequin trimmings; Mrs Brown, Falkland, meteor blue satin; Mrs Methven, Schoolhouse, Freuchie, reseda green voile with coloured embroidery; Mrs Bonthron, Newton House, helio voile; Mrs Bonthron, Kinsleith, black ninion over black silk; Miss Falconer, Falkland, fawn taffetas; Miss Richardson, Edinburgh, olive green poplin; Miss Cochrane, Glenfarg, cream lace over cream satin; Miss Thomson, Lochie, Strathmiglo, cream voile with forget-me-nots; Miss Honeyman, Kingskettle, sapphire blue accordion voile with lace coatee; Miss McDonald, Perth, petunia satin; Miss Cochrane, Falkland, cream silk with net overdress in silver sequins; Miss Orchison, Denbrae, Cupar, lemon satin with tunic of pale green voile; Miss Maxwell, Auchtermuchty, pale blue satin with overdress of blue and white voile; Miss McLaren, Dalmeny, saxe blue satin with lace coatee.

Extract from The Fife News: Lord Ninian Crichton-Stuart and Fifteenth Century Books – “Lord Ninian Crichton-Stuart, M.P., opened at Cardiff on Thursday last week, an exhibition of fifteenth century books. Lord Ninian said he had in his own library, two or three very old and valuable books, which were amongst his cherished possessions. One, given to him by his father, the late Marquis of Bute, contained 400 old plays and also some of the most wonderful examples of the early poets and early printing in this country. Another was a book of which there was only one other perfect copy in the world. One was in America, but this was an imperfect copy. He believed there was another in the British Museum. It was a copy of the “Life of the Duke of Montrose”, and its extreme rarity was due to the fact that almost all the other copies were destroyed shortly after publication. In conclusion, the speaker referred to the magnitude of the library accumulated by his grandfather, and to the fact that some of these books were now being exhibited by his brother, the Marquis of Bute, in the present exhibition.”

Extract from The Fife News: Falkland Palace – “Falkland Palace has been closed from Monday last week until further notice. This will be disappointing to visitors to the town during the holiday season. It is understood that the Palace is closed owing to fear that damage may be done by militant suffragists. This is another instance of the inconvenience that the public are put to by the ruthless acts of the “votes for women” fanatics.”

Church Minister – "The Scotsman, in reviewing "On the Trail of the Pioneers" (2s), London: Hodder and Stoughton, says the book is a sketch of the missions of the United Free Church of Scotland. It has been written mainly for the youth of the Church. The author has stories to tell of many wonderful experiences of missionaries and others, which give his narrative all the charm of romance. So much, indeed, is this the case that the volume can scarcely fail to prove popular with youthful readers and with older people too. It gives what may be described as a "bird's eye view" of what the Church has accomplished in the mission field. The volume has a number of beautiful illustrations. The following paragraph appeared in the September issue of the 'Missionary Record' of the United Free Church:

"A book will shortly be issued which has a peculiar and even romantic interest. It is written by the Rev. J.H. Morrison, M.A., our minister at Falkland, who has had an experience with it that recalls more than one famous incident in literary history. The volume is a brilliant sketch of the Missions of the United Free Church, and was originally finished a year ago. Consigned to the care of a well known man-of-letters, it was placed in a bag which was stolen during a railway journey and never recovered. After the first shock of the loss, Mr Morrison set to and re-wrote the work, and it will shortly be published by Messrs Hodder & Stoughton. 'On the Trail of the Pioneers' is original in conception and style, and will catch the popular fancy, and especially the fancy of the young. The opening chapter describes Foreign Mission night at the Assembly Hall, and readers are then taken an imaginative voyage round the world."

Extract from The Fife News: Falkland People's Right to take Rabbits from Quarry – “The question of the right of the people of Falkland and district to take game from a portion of the East Lomond Hill was argued at considerable length in Cupar Sheriff Court on Tuesday before Sheriff Armour-Hannay. Wm. James Reid, residing at South Street, Falkland, was charged with having on 26th August, trespassed in pursuit of game in a lime quarry situated in the East Lomond Hill, Falkland, in a portion which forms part of the estate of Lathrisk, which Mr J.C. Macgill-Crichton recently sold to a syndicate. Mr J. Kerr Tasker, Cupar, for the respondent, held that the proceedings were incompetent in two respects. (1) That the complainer had no title to prosecute, as he was not, either at the date of the alleged offence, or at the date of the institution of the present proceedings, either the owner or the occupier within the meaning of the Trespass (Scotland) Act 1832, or game tenant of the lime quarry mentioned in the complaint, and (2) that the charge involved a question of civil right. Mr A.E. Grosset, Cupar, who appeared for the complainer, said that the case had been adjourned in order that he might produce his title to prosecute. His title to the land in question was really founded upon a private Act of Parliament dated 1815, which dealt with the division and allotment of the commonty on the Lomond Hills at Falkland and Strathmiglo, in the parish of Strathmiglo. A commissioner (Sir William Rae) was appointed to carry out the division, and he was directed, in section 14 of the Act, to make up plans of the whole commonty, and to mark in the plans all parts which had been allocated to each proprietor. He produced the plans. The lime quarry in question, together with ten acres of land around it, had been allocated to the proprietor of Lathrisk. This also applied to two other quarries in the neighbourhood. Mr Tasker said that the people of Falkland had taken game from the quarry for the last 100 years. When the commonty was divided, he stated, the proprietor of Lathrisk got no higher right than the Magistrates and Town Council of Falkland, acting on behalf of the inhabitants. If the proprietor of Lathrisk had any right at all to this lime quarry and the ten acres around it, it was a right in common with others. Lathrisk had been sold, and the present proprietors claimed the ownership of the quarry. They entered on 15th August, and the alleged offence took place on 26th August when the complainer's ownership was gone. Therefore, he held that they had no title to prosecute. Mr Grosset said it was quite true that the estate was sold on 15th August, but as a matter of fact, the price was not paid until 5th September, and it was not till then that their deed was put upon record. Mr Tasker – “I think that all this discloses a very healthy question of civil right.” Mr Grosset – “What is the civil right? You have been talking of this civil right, but I have yet to learn what it is.” Mr Tasker – “All right, I will tell you now. The civil right the Provost and Magistrates of Falkland claim is exactly the right which they possessed before the Act of 1815, and prior to the award of 1818, which included the right of the people of Falkland and the neighbourhood to take rabbits. They have exercised that right for the last 100 years.” Mr Grosset said that all the right they ever had was to “take, win, burn and carry away limestone.” His point was that the quarry formed part of the commonty and the solum had been allotted to him. The Sheriff, after listening to protracted arguments, said that the only question he had any interest in was what was to be done with the case. It had to be either dismissed or sisted. Mr Tasker moved that it be dismissed, and Mr Grosset moved that it be sisted. The Sheriff said he had come to the conclusion after hearing the arguments that the case must be dismissed. It was perfectly clear that the prosecution was really raised with an ulterior object, namely to get a decision as to the ownership of this quarry. And two points of apparently no inconsiderable difficulty were raised. (1) as to the interpretation of this private Act of 1815, with the accompanying award of 1818, and (2) to have a proper principle established in law as to who could prosecute in that particular case, when the alleged poaching offence was committed on 26th August, when the property changed hands on 5th September, and the prosecution was raised on 14th November. All these matters raised the question of civil right, and accordingly his Lordship thought that the proper course under the circumstances was to dismiss the prosecution. Mr Tasker said that he was instructed to move for expenses. The Sheriff allowed £1 1s expenses.”
